

Invitation to Participate in Market Research

Thomson Scientific is looking for researchers, academic staff and students to participate in a market research study. The study will consist of an hour long in-person interview. The interviews will take place on campus and be conducted by a Thomson Scientific representative. During the interview, you will be asked about your typical workflow process and shown some new product development concepts.

We offer a $75 USD American Express Gift Cheque for those who complete an in-person interview.

The interviews are being scheduled at University of Queensland for June 6th, 7th & 8th.

If you are an ISI Web of Knowledge or Web of Science user, please click on <http://vovici.com/wsb.dll/s/10812g289c9> to answer a few background questions. Once that is done, you will be contacted by someone from Thomson Scientific with details about the study and to schedule an interview.

Participants will be given access to a new prototype prior to the interview and asked to sign a non-disclosure agreement. The onsite interviews will be video taped.
