TN! Theatre Company Collection

Size	177 boxes, 4 parcels, 4 tubes, 4 folders
Contents	Papers include administration records, financial records, company reports and working papers. Arts funding applications and appraisals of Company. Marketing records include advertisement mock-ups, brochures, posters and newspaper cuttings of advertisements and reviews. Records of plays produced include playscripts, production notes, musical scores, a rehearsal tape and miscellaneous photographs of productions and actors. Files also include papers relevant to the Company's history and censorship, especially the 1969 production of Alexander Buzo's play Norm and Ahmed . Also included are stage designs and architectural plans.
Date range	1970 to 1991
Biography	The Twelfth Night Theatre Company was founded in Brisbane in 1936 by Rhoda Felgate. It was an amateur society at first, then became a professional company in 1971. In 1979, the TN! Theatre Company was established. It was separate from the Twelfth Night Theatre Complex and had a more adventurous artistic policy. It formed a partnership with the Brisbane College of Education, which gave it access to a performance space in Fortitude Valley. In 1986, the company moved to the Princess Theatre. After 1988, financial difficulties beset the company. Its last production was in 1991.
Notes	Unrestricted access. Related material held in UQFL100 Rhoda Felgate Collection.
