UQFL508
UQ Department of Parasitology collection

Size 1 box

Contents Records from The University of Queensland’s former Department of Parasitology

Biography UQ’s Department of Parasitology was established in 1960. In 1998 it merged with the Department of Microbiology, and in 2001 a further merger with Chemistry and Biochemistry created the School of Molecular & Microbial Sciences, later renamed the School of Chemistry & Molecular Biosciences.

Notes Open access

Box 1

Scrapbook containing newspaper cuttings of articles concerning the Department of Parasitology, 1978-1998

Department of Parasitology Visitors’ book with handwritten entries, 1972-1997

Department of Parasitology Visitors’ book with handwritten entries, 1985-1995

3 prints of a photograph showing participants of a Department of Parasitology workshop, Heron Island, 1986. A list of the people in the photograph is included.